

December 15, 2005

I would like to thank you for your opinion on this issue that is so important to the great state of Georgia. It is very important that we in government know where our constituents stand that we may better represent you.

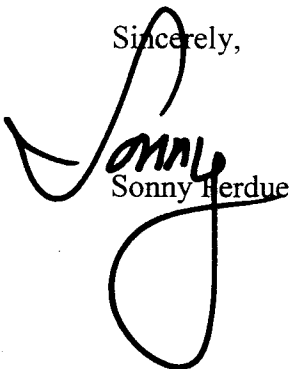

I too am extremely frustrated at the immigration situation in this country. Georgia, like the rest of the country, is bearing the burden of providing for those who have side stepped the fair immigration process that has been established by the federal government.

The present situation is also treacherous to the illegal aliens. These immigrants are often victimized by those claiming to help them enter the United States. Once here, life remains dangerous for them. Their lives would be much improved if they had begun their immigration process legally by applying for citizenship.

It is the responsibility of the Congress of the United States to establish laws that will protect our border, as well as to hold accountable the federal agencies responsible for enforcing those laws. That is why I support any action by Georgia's congressional delegation that will bring this issue to the forefront in Washington, D.C.

Protecting our borders is very important to me, as I know it is with you. The open border causes lost jobs, over crowded schools, and most importantly a threat to security during our nation's war on terror. For these reasons it is my hope that the federal government will act with the support of our Georgia representatives and stop the flow of illegal aliens into the United States.

Sincerely,

Sonny Perdue